Included meals: welcome dinner

Bonne arrivée! After clearing arrivals, transfer from the airport to your hotel to recharge. Then, get to know your Tour Director and fellow group members at a mixer before going to a historic cafe for a welcome dinner, served with beer or wine. Drink in the ambiance and let your first impression of Paris leave you enchanted.

Day 3: Sightseeing tour of Paris

Included meals: breakfast

Ready to be dazzled by the City of Light? Begin your first full day in France with a tour of its splendid capital, Paris. With a local guide leading the way, you'll get an overview of its most recognizable landmarks and a feel for the character of its arrondissements. (That's French for "districts," and it's how Parisians refer to the city's neighborhoods.)

- Drive down the sycamore-lined Avenue des Champs-Élysées—an icon of France that's lined with majestic monuments, glitzy restaurants, and glamorous storefronts. Continue to its western end and take in the magnificent Arc de Triomphe, originally built to commemorate one of Napoleon's many conquests. A dozen different avenues spoke from this epic arch, making it Paris' symbolic heart.
- Pass the 16th-century Pont Neuf, the oldest stone bridge in Paris, and Notre-Dame Cathedral. Watching over its arrondissement from an island in the Seine River, this French Gothic masterwork is one of the city's enduring sights.
- Make a photo stop at the Eiffel Tower (you know this one!) before viewing the Palais Garnier opera house and the Place de la Concorde, the city's grandest square.
- Pass by the I.M. Pei-designed Louvre Pyramid—the grandiose glass gateway to the world's preeminent art museum. Then, marvel at the Hôtel des Invalides: Erected in the 17th century and built to a height of roughly 350 feet, this gold-domed structure is the largest church building in all of Paris and serves as the final resting place of its greatest military leaders.

If you need a break from the buzz of this electric city, seek royal refuge by adding an afternoon outing to the Palace and Gardens of Versailles. You'll encounter gilded walkways, fresco-adorned ceilings, and close to 2,000 acres of immaculate green space—all just a few miles west of Paris. Or, stay in town and use your free time to amble to the Champ-de-Mars and savor a picnic in the shadow of the Eiffel Tower.

Day 4: Train ride to Lyon & sightseeing tour

Included meals: breakfast, tasting

Begin your journey south of Paris by transferring to Gare de Lyon and boarding the TGV. (That stands for Train à Grande Vitesse—literally "high-speed train." With speeds capping out at 200 mph, they really mean it!) After a zippy ride through landscapes that inspired France's most virtuosic artists, arrive at your final destination: Lyon. Once you're there, enjoy some free time to grab lunch before meeting a local guide for an introduction to France's culinary capital.

- Set out on a walking tour of Lyon's UNESCO-recognized city center, taking in its Gothic and Renaissance architecture as you go. Along the way, you'll pass the Basilica of Notre-Dame de Fourvière. You may have already seen it as you coasted into town, but this hilltop cathedral—built on the site of an old Roman forum—staggered up close.
- Drive over Saint-Exupéry Hill—named for Antoine de Saint-Exupéry, the Lyon-born author of the world-famous novella, The Little Prince—stopping in several districts en route. Highlights include the riverside Quais de Saône area and the landmark-lined Place des Terraux, but there's plenty more to see beyond this popular pair.
- Continue through Vieux Lyon, the Old Town and largest Renaissance district in the city, and step inside the Cathédrale Saint-Jean-Baptiste de Lyon. Simply known as "Lyon Cathedral" in English, this Gothic church took 300 years to complete and houses a 14th-century astronomical clock. You might just catch it tolling!

- Explore some of Lyon's many traboules—secret covered passageways that once helped workers and merchants shuttle between streets. Word has it that it takes a true Lyonnais to locate these hidden paths; luckily, your local guide's one of them.
- Wrap up with a sampling of the city's cuisine. Join your guide for a tasting of cheese, charcuterie, and wine, before finishing your sightseeing tour with a sweet treat from a boulangerie. (That's the French word for bakery, and with more than 30,000 of them in the country, it's a word you'll use often.)

After a day of travel and tastings, enjoy an evening to yourself. If you're craving another bite to eat, seek out a bouchon. Unique to Lyon, these eateries serve hearty local dishes and regional wines in a cozy atmosphere. Not just any restaurant can claim the title, though: Only a few dozen meet the traditional qualifications needed, so do a little digging and find your favorite, or ask your Tour Director for a recommendation.

Day 5: Free day in Lyon

Included meals: breakfast

After easing into your day with a free morning, choose one of two paths: Either add an afternoon excursion to the quaint commune of Pérouges—and see why it's recognized as one of Les Plus Beaux Villages de France ("the most beautiful villages in France")—or take a few hours to continue snacking your way through Lyon. Then, wind down on your own and pack up for tomorrow's transfer to Avignon.

Day 6: Transfer to Avignon, sightseeing tour & Châteauneuf-du-Pape wine tasting

Included meals: breakfast, wine tasting, dinner
Today, drive into Provence and make your way to the “City of the Popes.” Sited along the Rhône River, Avignon’s place at the confluence of history and culture dates to it being the seat of the Catholic papacy in the 14th century. Upon arrival, discover its legacy of architecture and art with a local guide leading the way with a visit to the magnificent Papal Palace, a UNESCO World Heritage Site and one of the most significant medieval Gothic buildings in all of Europe. From its cavernous chambers to its extensive courtyards, the enormous structure boasts fortress-like walls more than 160 feet tall—a surefire way to protect its residents.

Interested in some wine to toast a day well-spent? Roll into the Rhône Valley and visit a cellar specializing in Châteauneuf-du-Pape. One of the most famous French Appellations d’Origine Contrôlée, or AOCs, these prized wines are crafted with one of 13 designated varieties—and during your visit, you’ll get to sample some of them.

Afterward, sit down at a local restaurant for an included dinner of Provençal specialties, served with beer or wine, before returning to your hotel and calling it a night.

Day 7: Free day in Avignon

Included meals: breakfast

For a one-of-a-kind blend of Roman history and Post-Impressionist heritage, tack today’s optional outing to the riverside city of Arles onto your itinerary. Alternatively, plan a peaceful personal retreat to Île de la Barthelasse. France’s largest river island is just a short bus or ferry ride from Central Avignon, and its protected green space offers broad views of the city.

Day 8: French Riviera via Moustiers-Sainte-Marie & Grasse

Included meals: breakfast

From Avignon, take the scenic route and travel to the French Riviera, pausing to tour its charming medieval villages and mesmerizing Mediterranean coastline.

- First, stop in Moustiers-Sainte-Marie. Home to just over 700 people, Moustiers has protected the western mouth of the Verdon Gorge for more than a millennium. Marvel at its olive-planted hills as you drive in—and perhaps catch a glimpse of the famous gold star strung up above the town between two cliffs—then enjoy free time to wander its cobbled streets. For centuries, Moustiers played a key role in the pottery trade; today, you can see that legacy in the form of its famous, tin-glazed faience.

- After grabbing some food in Moustiers, board your bus once again and rumble down the Route Napoléon. Tracing the steps of Napoléon Bonaparte after his return from exile, this scenic drive runs all the way to the Côte d’Azur. And when we say “scenic,” we mean it: Sweeping sea views, forested valleys, and much more line this 195-mile highway.
- Exit the route and stop in Grasse—the center of France’s perfume industry and the fragrance capital of the world. Breathe in the sights, sounds, and smells of the town as you make your way to a professional workshop, where you’ll craft an Eau de Cologne of your own with guidance from a local expert.

End your day on a high note, leaving Grasse and transferring to your hotel on the French Riviera. After settling in, use your free evening to explore the area at your leisure or cap your travels with some rest and relaxation.

Day 9: Sightseeing tour of Nice

Included meals: breakfast, farewell dinner

Nestled between Cannes and the Principality of Monaco on the Côte d’Azur, Nice is part cultural hub, part coastal resort, and entirely fascinating. Fall in love with “La Belle” during a guided tour of the city this morning, and see which of its quarters claims your heart.

- Drive along the Promenade des Anglais, a waterfront walkway dear to locals and tourists alike. Spot the various highlights called out by your local guide: The distinguished Hôtel Negresco, casino-hotel Palais de la Méditerranée, and the iron sculpture La Chaise all line the promenade.
- Stop in the upscale Cimiez neighborhood to explore a pair of legendary landmarks. First, enter the second-century Roman amphitheater—one ruin among many that formerly constituted the Roman city of Cemenelum—before moving on to the thriving gardens of the Cimiez Monastery. Monks have found solace in its peaceful surroundings since the 800s, and you can, too. Bask in a blissful moment of calm, then continue on your sightseeing tour.
- Conclude your day with free time in Nice’s Old Town, a labyrinth of narrow streets connecting bustling squares, quaint cafes, and the vibrant Cours Saleya market. (Looking for souvenirs? Here’s your last chance! Pick up tapenades, candied fruit, and other local specialties for the gourmand in your life.)

Later, celebrate your trip at a farewell dinner this evening, served with beer or wine.
